Daryl Pendergraft Assumes New Post for 1958-59

T.C. Names Assistant to President

Dr. Daryl Pendergraft has been named assistant to the president and director of field services at Iowa State Teachers College for the fiscal year 1958-59. Dr. Pendergraft has been a member of the ISTC staff since 1946 and director of field services and extension service since 1954. He assumed the additional post as assistant to President J. W. Maucker in July.

The board of regents also approved the appointment of Dr. R. J. Schlicher as director of the extension service in addition to his regular post as director of the college placement bureau, for the 1958-59 fiscal year. Dr. Schlicher, a member of the staff since 1949, was named director of the placement bureau in 1951.

Named assistant to the placement director for the 1958-59 academic year was Dr. Ernest C. Fossum, associate professor of speech.

Dennis Buckley, Sandra Ladehoff Receive Honors

Get Fulbright, Wilson Scholarships

Two alumni have been named recipients of Fulbright and Woodrow Wilson scholarships for 1958-59. They are: Dennis L. Buckley, B.A. '58, whose Fulbright scholarship will enable him to study science education and serve as an assistant in English at Friedrich Alexander University in Erlangen, Germany; and Sandra S. Ladehoff, B.A. '58, whose Wilson fellowship will enable her to study mathematics at the University of Wisconsin.

Buckley's scholarship is one of approximately 900 grants for graduate study abroad awarded under the International Educational Exchange program of the Department of State (see information concerning application forms, inside front cover). He was a chemistry major at the Teachers College and minored in mathematics and German.

Miss Ladehoff, who was a mathematics major at the college and served as temporary instructor in that department from January to June last year, is one of 1,080 scholars to win the award, valued at $1,400 plus tuition. The Woodrow Wilson fellowships are made possible by the Ford Foundation, and enable students to try out their interests in their first year of graduate work and thus to determine whether they wish to pursue college or university teaching careers.

Miss Ladehoff received one of the first ISTC Alumni Scholarships.

A Report to the Alumni

August 19, 1958

Dear Alumni and Friends of I.S.T.C.:

I am pleased to submit the 1957-58 Honor Roll and Financial Report of the Iowa State Teachers College Alumni Association along with a summary of the progress we have made during the past four years.

Our Alumni Board has worked closely with President Maucker and other college officials during the past year in making tentative plans for an Iowa State Teachers College Development Program. More detailed information about this program will be presented to Alumni in the near future.

I wish to thank each of you who took an active part in the Alumni program during the past year. The fine support of the Friends of the College enabled us to increase our student aid program substantially. It is encouraging to note that each year an increasing number of alumni are doing their bit to help build a strong supporting arm for I.S.T.C. through our Alumni Association.

The continuing efforts of all of us will soon make our association's contribution truly representative of the wonderful group of people who are alumni of the Iowa State Teachers College.

I have enjoyed serving as your president during the past year and look forward to having an active part in the growth and progress of our association.

Sincerely yours,

Wendell Bragonier

Dr. Louis Begeman Had Served Teachers College 60 Years

Atomic Research Pioneer Dies at 93

Dr. Louis Begeman, professor emeritus of physics, died on May 18 at the age of 93. He had served on the faculty from 1899 until his retirement in 1935, and had been head of the department of physics and chemistry from 1912 until his retirement. From 1935 until shortly before his death, Dr. Begeman had served the college on a part time basis, thus completing nearly 60 years service to the institution.

A native of Indiana, Dr. Begeman had come to Iowa in 1889 as superintendent of schools at Corydon. From 1895 to 1899, he was professor of physics and chemistry at Parsons College in Fairfield.

Dr. Begeman is survived by one son, Dr. Myron Begeman, professor of mechanical engineering at the University of Texas, and a daughter, Mrs. Ralph Jourdan, Ridgewood, N. J.

Holder of the B.S. and M.S. degrees from the University of Michigan, Dr. Begeman had received the Ph.D. degree from the University of Chicago, where he studied with the distinguished physicist and Nobel Prize winner, Dr. Robert Millikan. Dr. Begeman's doctoral dissertation on "The Determination of the Charge of the Electron" established him as a pioneer in that field of physics.

He was a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the Iowa Academy of Science, having served as president of the latter body in 1911-12. He was the author of Principles of Physics (1922) and Everyday Physical Science (1923).

A faculty resolution after his death declared Dr. Begeman to have been "a forceful and inspiring teacher who demanded of his students work of a high grade and was always fair and considerate of the opinions of students. His scholarly teaching and personality made a lasting impression on all who were privileged to have studied with him."

Chicago Area Alumni Meet for 26th Year

The 26th annual dinner of the Iowa State Teachers College Alumni Association (Chicago Area) was held April 26, 1958 at 6:30 p.m. in the Beaubien Room of the Prudential Building, Chicago.

Robert McCabe, B.A. '40, president, welcomed the 39 alumni, guests, and friends after which Melvin Mueller, B.A. '40, vice president, asked the blessing.

Community singing was conducted by Mrs. Sidney Wert (Bernita Brundage, B.A. '39) accompanied by Robert McCabe.

Mr. Milo Lawton, director of Alumni Affairs, reported on some interesting recent events at T.C.

The after-dinner speaker was Dr. Lyman Harris, professor of history at ISTC, who spoke on his "Impressions of the Soviet Union." Dr. Harris gave a very interesting talk on his trip to Russia during 1957 with comments on travel in Russia, contacts with the Russian people, entertainment, building, and religion in Russia at the present time.

Music was a string trio consisting of Charlotte Gardner, Robert McCabe and Merna Mosher McDonald, B.A. '40.

The following officers were chosen for 1959: President, Melvin Mueller, B.A. '40, vice-president, Robert Keyes, B.A. '42, Sec.-Treas., Mrs. George O. Michaels (Arvilla Benshoof, B.S. '31).

Bert Woodcock Dies; Noted Safety Educator

Death claimed Bert Woodcock at the age of 52 on August 5, following a heart attack. Mr. Woodcock, who was an active alumnus of Teachers College, had been a member of the Iowa State Teachers College faculty since 1946, when he joined the staff as an instructor. He was associate professor and director of safety education at the time of his death.

Prior to joining the ISTC faculty, Mr. Woodcock had been state director of public safety from 1942 to 1946 and field representative for the state department in 1941-1942.

He had served as teacher-coach at Eldora High School from 1929 to 1941 and teacher-coach at Nora Springs High School from 1927 to 1929. Mr. Woodcock was a 1929 graduate of ISTC and received the master's degree from New York University in 1951. He was a native of Bagley, Minn.

Civic activities included membership in the Cedar Falls City Safety Council, director of the state Safety Council, and a member of the driver training and safety education committee of the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators.

Mr. Woodcock was instrumental in testing the unique Drivotrainer classroom devices, which have since been accepted throughout the nation as valuable driver training equipment. He was director of a research project in cooperation with the Aetna Casualty and Surety Company, deviser of the Drivotrainer. Subsequently, Mr. Woodcock was in charge of training teachers to use the device. Last year, he conducted an extensive research study which indicated that the Drivotrainer was capable of increasing teacher-capacity by 50 per cent.

Mr. Woodcock was president of the ISTC Alumni Association in 1954. A special memorial fund has been established for receiving contributions made to the Alumni Scholarship Fund in memory of Mr. Woodcock.

Survivors include: Mrs. Lora Ann Woodcock, widow; Mrs. Jeanette Winegarden, daughter, Cedar Falls; A. C. Woodcock, father, Tripoli.

College Buys Heckroth Land

Purchase of 56.6 acres of land west of O. R. Latham stadium was approved this summer by the Iowa Executive Council, on recommendation of the state board of regents. The land will be used to extend the I.S.T.C. campus.

Bought from Glen and Margaret Heckroth for approximately $108,000, the land had originally been scheduled for purchase in 1957 with funds which were included in capital appropriations vetoed by Gov. Herschel Loveless. The ultimate purchase this summer was made only a week before the college option on the land was due to expire.

Working on Gridders' Speed

One day last spring a solidly built man with a thinning crew cut stood in front of a classroom, fingering a piece of chalk. Nearly every chair in the room was filled, and for a group of about 60 students, there wasn't much conversation.

Finally, the man in front turned to the blackboard and wrote:

$$F=MV^2$$

"That means force equals mass times velocity," he said. "We can't do much about your size, but we think we can improve your speed."

The speaker was Bill Hammer, who had just taken over the ISTC football job. The listeners were his football squad.

So Hammer and his staff set out to improve, among other things, the speed of his squad during spring drills. There was also a change of offense—from the single wing to the split T-formation—and players were injected into this position, tried there, until the coaching staff was satisfied.

The Panthers have only 14 lettermen back this fall, with two short weeks to work out before opening with Bradley at Cedar Falls Sept. 13. A big job awaits both the coaching staff and the squad before the season's initial kick-off.

Three members of last season's all-North Central conference team are returning. They are fullback Tom Murphy, halfback Lew Roberts, and guard Morris Smith (see pictures). If this trio can shoulder the leadership responsibilities necessary to a good football team, another large problem will be solved.

One of the most attractive home schedules in recent years awaits I.S.T.C. fans, which includes three conference games and non-loop battles with Bradley and Drake. The schedule:

Merchant Scholarships To Davis, Andersen, Meyer

Three graduates have been awarded Merchant Scholarships, totaling $3100, for graduate study in 1958-59. Funds are provided under the will of the late Professor Frank Ivan Merchant and Kate Matilda Merchant, with awards enabling students to pursue their educational interests at institutions of their choice in this country or foreign nations.

Recipients of scholarships for this year are: Robert E. Davis, B.A. '53, who will work toward his Ph.D. in speech, radio and television at the State University of Iowa; Kenneth Andersen, B.A. '54 and M.A. '55, who will work toward a Ph.D. in speech at the University of Wisconsin; and Fred Meyer, B.A. '53, who will work on a Ph.D. in zoology at Iowa State College.

Alumni Awards to 21

Twenty-one students have accepted Alumni Scholarships for next year, according to Milo Lawton, director of alumni affairs. In addition, 18 students have accepted Alumni Merit Awards. Scholarships are awarded on the basis of interest in teaching, probable success as a student and teacher, participation in extracurricular activities, character and personality of applicant, and financial need. The Merit Awards are based on scholarship.

T.C. Leaves Its Mark on Oxford

A pet tortoise in the courtyard of Oxford University's Oriel College carries a brightly painted reminder of this summer's sojourn by 51 students of Iowa State Teachers College. The courtyards at Oriel College are traditionally inhabited by pet tortoises whose shells are painted with various names and insignia, such as names of British professors and other notables. The newest member of the tortoise family is gaily bedecked with a sign never before seen at Oxford, a large "I.S.T.C.", commemorative of the school's second social science European Seminar.

Teachers College students were quartered in the same rooms once occupied by such Oriel alumni as Matthew Arnold, Cardinal Newman, Cecil Rhodes and Sir Walter Raleigh. One of Oxford's oldest colleges, Oriel was founded in 1326, with its present structures dating largely from the 17th century.

Actual instruction during the seminar's stay at Oriel was done by Dr. Geoffrey Marshall, Fellow of Queen's College, Oxford, and Dr. Martin Harrison, Research Fellow of Nuffield College, Oxford. They were assisted by several guest lecturers. I.S.T.C. directors of the seminar were Dr. Leland L. Sage and Dr. Howard V. Jones, of the social science department.

The subjects studied by the group were mainly concerned with contemporary England, in lectures, discussions and reading which covered the British constitution, English education, British society, etc. Professor Kenneth Kirkwood, one of England's leading authorities on race relations and recently returned from Africa, spoke to the ISTC students about latest developments in the Dark Continent.

Iowa students did more than listen to lectures, though. In addition to daily discussion sessions, they staged a mock meeting of the House of Commons, representing reports from many "committees," including a report on how to reform the English. The latter was reported in the Oxford Mail with the following comments:

"How to reform the English—that was one question for debate during the light-hearted last session of the Iowa State Teachers College course at Oriel College yesterday.

"In Parliamentary parody, the spokesmen of committees lined up to present their reports along one side of the Junior Common Room, facing the Opposition, represented by their English tutors. Mr. Speaker was one of the American directors of the course, Dr. Howard Jones, magnificent in gown and grey wig. He smiled and doodled benevolently throughout the proceedings.

"The reports were reassuringly unanimous that England could only reform by becoming more English. The mover set the tone by calling for 'planned retrogression'.

"The thought that England might no longer be England appalled us,' he cried. 'This country must never be a chromium-plated, drugstore-dotted, 300-horse-power suburb of Long Island.'

"Further speakers made practical suggestions for putting this policy into effect, guided by the principle stated by one girl: If it is old, keep it and add to it.'

'For example, let the Guards in Whitehall be increased to keep tourists at bay. More potatoes must be grown, TV sets removed from pubs, and heating apparatus installed to keep beer warm the year round.'

Classwork was only one of many activities pursued by the students at Oriel. Afternoons were largely occupied with trips to primary and secondary schools and historic sites, including: Blenheim Palace, magnificent home of the Duke of Marlborough, the only private residence in England called a palace and the birthplace of Sir Winston Churchill; the famous prehistoric temple at Stonehenge; the 13th century cathedral of Salisbury; Warwick Castle; and Windsor Castle.

That great British institution tea time—became quite familiar to all students. London, where something seemed to be happening every moment, was only an hour and a half away by train, and the students took full advantage of its entertainment offerings. Robert McIntire, B.A. '55, and several others arose at 1:15 one morning to journey to London and stand in line for four hours to procure standing room tickets to the Rex Harrison—Julie Andrews hit musical, "My Fair Lady." (McIntire, who was for two years director of Stadium Hall and one year director of Seerley-Baker Hall for men at ISTC, will remain in Europe this fall and winter.)

Even before reaching Oriel, most of the students had experienced European travel, since 38 of the party traveled together through England and Scotland for two weeks. They attended opera at the Royal Opera House in Covent Garden, heard Van Cliburn repeating his prize-winning Moscow concert, and saw a Jean Giradoux play starring Vivien Leigh and Claire Bloom.

Although the formal instructional part of the seminar trip was completed after a month at Oxford, the group then spent a month on the continent, with the first stop at the Brussels World Fair, where another

ISTC graduate, Pat Maxwell, B.A. '58 is employed. (Story on Miss Maxwell appears below.)

After leaving Brussels, the group visited the Hague and Amsterdam, then journeyed up the Rhine River through Western Germany, with stops at Cologne and Heidelberg. Private buses then took them through the Black Forest, into Switzerland with a stop at picturesque Lucerne, and a day at Stresa, in the heart of Italy's lake area. After traveling on to Milan and Verona, they took a gondola tour of Venice and enjoyed a rest on the beach at the Lido. Rome, Pisa, the Riviera at Nice, north through France to Grenoble and Dijon, with lunch in Geneva—and then the group arrived in Paris for the formal conclusion of the continental tour. Many students flew back to the United States from Paris, but about half the group remained to tour the Loire Valley and see Mont Saint-Michel and the Cathedral of Chartres before sailing from Cherbourg for their homeland.

And so was completed another social science seminar in Europe, a three-month whirl of tradition and travel, education and unfamiliar accents, castles, palaces and cathedrals, music and drama, British tea and kidney-pie, Irish lakes and Scottish heather, all bound together into a summer which demanded a new word to express the students' reaction—"fantabulous!"

Pat Maxwell Is Only Iowan Among 300 at Fair

'58 Grad Is Brussels Guide

The only girl from Iowa selected as a guide at the American Pavilion at the Brussels World Fair is Patricia Maxwell, B.A. '58. Pat is not only a guide, but she has also been directing activities at the American Theater at the Pavilion. She has been in Brussels since April and will remain there until the fair closes in November.

Pat is one of 300 American college girls selected for assignment after qualifying in extensive examinations and interviews. The guides are all fluent in French and well-informed on cultural, scientific and political affairs. Pat's major at the Teachers College was social science.

Her duties at the American Theater include organizing and scheduling programs, as well as shouldering responsibility and credit or blame for musical, dramatic and other programs.

"It's a wonderful opportunity to work here," she recently told a Des Moines Register reporter. "For one thing, it is thrilling to see how American visitors react. Most come here first and tour the exhibits and look at everything carefully. Then they go to the Russian Pavilion and give it the same inspection. Time after time they hurry back here, before going other places, and seek out the guides and tell them how much more impressed they are with the American presentation."

Pat and her fellow guides wear a greenish uniform with a gold-yellow cap, both slightly less uniform-like than the dress worn by airline hostesses. The American guides conduct tours only in the American Pavilion. Pat's guests have included Muhammad H. El-Farra, chief delegate to the United Nations from the Arab states delegation, who spent a week on the Teachers College campus two years ago during the first All-College Conference on International Affairs.

When she is finished at the fair, Pat plans to tour Europe with several friends before returning to start work in a textbook publishing house in Chicago.

Had Been One of First to Receive Alumni Service Award

I. H. Hart Dies After 44 Years at T.C.

Irving H. Hart, 80, died on July 12, after a two-month illness, at his home in Cedar Falls. Mr. Hart had served on the Teachers College staff for 44 years.

He was one of the first to receive the Alumni Service Award, being selected for the honor at the 1956 spring reunion.

A graduate of Grinnell College, Mr. Hart was honored last spring by that institution for distinguished service to education. He had joined the ISTC staff in 1914 as professor of rural education and assistant director of the extension division. In 1918, he assumed the office of director of the extension service and served in that capacity until 1948, when he assumed emeritus status and served as college archivist and historian until his death.

Mr. Hart originated the idea of the Teachers College consultative service for teachers and administrators throughout the state, and sponsored establishment of the college radio studios. More recently, Mr. Hart had become familiar to thousands of school children through television.

An active writer, Mr. Hart was the author of "The First Seventy-Five Years," a history of the Teachers College; Milestones, a history of the Iowa State Education Association; and Stories of Iowa, a series of 30 radio dramas.

He was a veteran on both the Spanish American War and World War I, and was a member of numerous professional and honorary organizations, including Phi Beta Kappa, the Iowa Historical Association, the Iowa State Education Association, and the National Education Association.

Survivors include: the widow; two daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Bennett of Evanston, Ill., and Mrs. Frank Zink of Glen Ellyn, Ill.; and two sons, Irving H. Hart, jr., of Albuquerque, N. M., and Evan A. Hart of Milwaukee, Wis.

A. C. Fuller Dies at 80

Dr. Albert C. Fuller, emeritus director of alumni service and public school relations, died on May 4 in West Englewood, N. J., at the home of a daughter, Mrs. John Brickner. Dr. Fuller, who was 80 years old, was a graduate of the college and had served on the staff since 1917.

Born in Wright County on May 16, 1877, Dr. Fuller's professional career began in 1899 following graduation with the M.Di. degree from the Iowa State Normal School. He served as superintendent of schools in Manning, Sidney, Storm Lake and Washington. In 1911, he received the B.A. degree from the State University of Iowa. and in 1937 was awarded the honorary LL.D. degree from Buena Vista College. From 1913 to 1917, Dr. Fuller served as state high school inspector.

Joining the staff of Iowa State Teachers College in 1917, he served until 1934 as associate director of the extension service, and in 1934 became the first director of alumni service and public school relations, a post he held until retirement in 1949. After his retirement, Dr. Fuller remained active in college affairs, serving as president of the Seerley Foundation from his co-founding of the corporation in 1928 until 1957.

Dr. Fuller's work as chairman and active manager of the Campanile Committee of the Alumni Association was instrumental in erection of the Campanile, memorial to the founders and builders of the college.

A record of 53 consecutive years' attendance at the state conventions of the Iowa State Teachers Association and its successor, the Iowa State Education Association, testified to his strong support of professional education associations. He held continuous memberships in the state association since 1897 and in the National Education Association since 1906.

Memorial services for Dr. Fuller were held May 9 at the First Presbyterian Church in Cedar Falls. Survivors include: two daughters, Mrs. Brickner and Mrs. Roger L. Preston, Grinnell; and a brother, Roy E. Fuller, Evanston, Ill. Dr. Fuller was preceded in death by his wife, the former Olive Whitmore of Fairfield, and a son, Robert.

In an address of tribute, Fred D. Cram, emeritus professor of education, said, "It is not easy, after association with a fellow human being for more than a third of a century and for approximately half a lifetime to say in fullest measure and meaning the words we feel we should utter but which do not come. The warm hand-clasp, the sparkling eye, the always apparent affability we shall know no more. But back of these physical and mental manifestations there was a pureness of heart, a cleanness of soul, a loftiness of mind, and a richness of character which time can erase only by obliterating the marks embossed upon the memories of the years, as we ourselves find the stylus rubbing low on the palimpsest of memory the living characters which our friend imprinted as the days worked into years . . . When one can certify after so long a time that he has examined this man and sees no blemish in him, the pleasure of speaking words of consolation to his loved ones and rendering a testimony to goodness is a rich reward . . . Here was a life so well and so magnanimously lived that . . . we can say that as our friends depart in their old age and ours, they each take something passing of the last dear companion, we are literally slain at the hands of our departed friends."
